LAPA CODE OF ETHICS

Preamble:

LAPA members will strictly adhere to the accepted standards of legal ethics and to the general principles of proper conduct, in accordance with the Code of Ethics and Professional Responsibility of the National Association of Legal Assistants, Inc. (NALA) and the LAPA Code of Ethics set forth herein.

Definition:

Paralegals (including those classified as Legal Assistants) are a distinguishable group of persons who assist attorneys in the delivery of legal services. Through formal education, training and experience, paralegals have knowledge and expertise regarding the legal system and substantive and procedural law which qualify them to work under the supervision of an attorney or corporate officer.

Guidelines:

LAPA paralegal members will conduct themselves under the following guidelines:

Item 1: Paralegals must not perform any task or duties defined only for attorneys nor may they take any actions on behalf of an attorney that the attorney would not (under local, state, or federal rules or regulations) be permitted to do.

Item 2: Paralegals may perform any task which is properly delegated and supervised by an attorney, as long as the attorney is ultimately responsible to the client, maintains a direct relationship with the client, and assumes professional responsibility for the work product.

Item 3: Paralegals must not –

- a. Engage in, encourage, or contribute to any act which could constitute the unauthorized practice of law;*
- b. Establish attorney-client relationships, set fees, give legal opinions or advice, or represent a client before a court or agency unless so authorized by the court or agency; and*
- c. Engage in conduct or take any action which would assist or involve the attorney in a violation of professional ethics or give the appearance of professional impropriety.*

Item 4: Paralegals must use discretion and professional judgment commensurate with knowledge and experience but must not render independent legal judgment in place of an attorney, understanding that the services of an attorney are essential in the public interest whenever such legal judgment is required.

Item 5: Paralegals must disclose their status as a non-attorney at the onset of any professional relationship with a client, attorney, court or administrative agency or personnel thereof, or a member of the general public. Paralegals must act prudently in determining the extent to which a client may be assisted without the presence of an attorney.

Item 6: Paralegals must strive to maintain integrity and a high degree of competency through education and training with respect to professional responsibility, local rules and practice, and through continuing education in substantive areas of law to better assist the legal profession in fulfilling its duty to provide legal services under the guideline of an attorney.

Item 7: Paralegals must protect the confidences of a client and must not violate any rule or statute now in effect or hereafter enacted controlling the doctrine of privileged communications between a client and an attorney.

Item 8: Paralegals must do all other things incidental, necessary, or expedient for the attainment of the ethics and responsibilities as defined by statute or rule of court.

Item 9: The conduct of all LAPA members is guided by the local and state codes of professional responsibility and rules of professional conduct, including to the extent reasonable those of the attorney under the Pennsylvania and local county Rules of Ethics.

Item 10: The LAPA Board of Directors may suspend or expel any membership for cause after reasonable inquiry into an alleged violation of conduct, as listed in Item 3 above, and may then, by a majority two-thirds (2/3) vote of those present at any regularly constituted meeting of the Board, terminate or suspend the membership. Any member found to be guilty of the unauthorized practice of law or convicted of a felony (in a court of law) may have their LAPA membership revoked.

Item 11: Any LAPA member who misrepresents themselves as a professional paralegal, paralegal student or other specific classification is subject to be reclassified by request of the LAPA Board and may have their membership cancelled if unwilling to comply with the reclassification.

NALA Code of Ethics & Professional Responsibility

Each NALA member agrees to follow the canons of the NALA Code of Ethics and Professional Responsibility Violations of the Code may result in cancellation of membership. First adopted by the NALA membership in May of 1975, the Code of Ethics and Professional Responsibility is the foundation of ethical practices of paralegals in the legal community.

A paralegal must adhere strictly to the accepted standards of legal ethics and to the general principles of proper conduct. The performance of the duties of the paralegal shall be governed by specific canons as defined herein so that justice will be served and goals of the profession attained. (See Model Standards and Guidelines for Utilization of paralegals, Section II.)

The canons of ethics set forth hereafter are adopted by the NALA, Inc., as a general guide intended to aid paralegals and attorneys. The enumeration of these rules does not mean there are not others of equal importance although not specifically mentioned. Court rules, agency rules and statutes must be taken into consideration when interpreting the canons.

Definition

Paralegals, also known as legal assistants, are a distinguishable group of persons who assist attorneys in the delivery of legal services. Through formal education, training and experience, paralegals have knowledge and expertise regarding the legal system and substantive and procedural law which qualify them to do work of a legal nature under the supervision of an attorney.

In 2001, NALA members also adopted the ABA definition of a paralegal, as follows:

A paralegal is a person qualified by education, training or work experience who is employed or retained by a lawyer, law office, corporation, governmental agency or other entity who performs specifically delegated substantive legal work for which a lawyer is responsible. (Adopted by the ABA in 1997)

Canon 1

A paralegal must not perform any of the duties that attorneys only may perform nor take any actions that attorneys may not take.

Canon 2

A paralegal may perform any task which is properly delegated and supervised by an attorney, as long as the attorney is ultimately responsible to the client, maintains a direct relationship with the client, and assumes professional responsibility for the work product.

Canon 3

A paralegal must not: (a) engage in, encourage, or contribute to any act which could constitute the unauthorized practice of law; and (b) establish attorney-client relationships, set fees, give legal opinions or advice or represent a client before a court or agency unless so authorized by that court or agency; and (c) engage in conduct or take any action which would assist or involve the attorney in a violation of professional ethics or give the appearance of professional impropriety.

Canon 4

A paralegal must use discretion and professional judgment commensurate with knowledge and experience but must not render independent legal judgment in place of an attorney. The services of an attorney are essential in the public interest whenever such legal judgment is required.

Canon 5

A paralegal must disclose his or her status as a paralegal at the outset of any professional relationship with a client, attorney, a court or administrative agency or personnel thereof, or a member of the general public. A paralegal must act prudently in determining the extent to which a client may be assisted without the presence of an attorney.

Canon 6

A paralegal must strive to maintain integrity and a high degree of competency through education and training with respect to professional responsibility, local rules and practice, and through continuing education in substantive areas of law to better assist the legal profession in fulfilling its duty to provide legal service.

Canon 7

A paralegal must protect the confidences of a client and must not violate any rule or statute now in effect or hereafter enacted controlling the doctrine of privileged communications between a client and an attorney.

Canon 8

A paralegal must disclose to his or her employer or prospective employer any pre-existing client or personal relationship that may conflict with the interests of the employer or prospective employer and/or their clients.

Canon 9

A paralegal must do all other things incidental, necessary, or expedient for the attainment of the ethics and responsibilities as defined by statute or rule of court.

Canon 10

A paralegal's conduct is guided by bar associations' codes of professional responsibility and rules of professional conduct.
